

PreSonus Studio Monitors Now Bundled with Extensive Software Suite

PreSonus is well-known for honoring the Louisiana tradition of lagniappe: giving something a little extra, a bonus. In that spirit, all PreSonus customers who purchase Eris-series, R-series, Sceptre-series, and Temblor-series studio monitors and subwoofers after March 1, 2021, can now receive a software bundle that includes special versions of the company's Studio One Prime DAW and Studio Magic Suite for macOS and Windows. This is a permanent addition, not a temporary offer.

Studio One Prime is the entry-level version of PreSonus' award-winning recording and production software, with unlimited track count and a selection of Native effects and virtual instrument plug-ins. This version of Studio One Prime has been modified to enable use with the Studio Magic Suite software bundle, which includes plug-in effects and virtual instruments in VST, AU (Mac), and AAX formats; lessons; and more - an amazing value worth more than $1,000.
